

The Adventures of Captain Kirk "The Alchemists" Part 2

Batman and Spiderman were abused by the alchemist who made them believe that his laboratory was only a cassoulet factory. The Professor, furious at their naivety, sent them back to investigate. Our two heroes are about to set off again in pursuit of the Alchemist.

- The Professor was furious, how to resume this investigation?
- The cassoulet is the key, let's look for the cassoulet!
- Well reasoned Spiderman, let's go to the cassoulet festival in the City.

-Batman, what are you doing? we're in a rush.
- I look at the animals ..... how beautiful they are.
- Do you like animals now?
- Yes sir, I like animals ..... I like well cooked animals.

- You fly too low, the donkeys are scared.

- The cassoulet banquets have already started, come on, full throttle on the City.

- Professor, I got rid of the cassoulet, I gave it to the monks of the Abbey of Fontfroide.
- Hmm! Well ! Well.
- However I allowed myself to keep a pot in case you want to drip it.

- Well, we will eat this cassoulet tonight, do you have any news from our two simpletons?
- They have just left to resume their investigation.

At the apothecary.
- We have been followed since our arrival and a spy is there, down the street.
- Well, we'll create a diversion with poison. The cassoulet of the party will be perfect to reach as many people as possible and create confusion.

- Look at its beautiful color, it's this poison that I mixed with the 50 kilos of cassoulet that this Batman jerk bought me at the laboratory.
- Is this poison lethal?
- No, it causes a big digestive discomfort, it's enough to get rid of prying eyes.

A murderous figure walks towards the kitchens of the cassoulet festival.

