

The Adventures of Captain Kirk "The Alchemists" Part 1

The grimoire stored in the Professor's library was given by Edgard to a fake traveling merchant. Edgar believing he was doing the right thing, by cleaning the Professor's office he got rid of the old books that cluttered him. The false merchant was an Alchemist.

- Well ! We have a problem! The grimoire probably fell into the hands of the Alchemists. He must be found. For this mission Edgar will accompany you.

- Captain Kirk has spotted their lab, he's going to give you all the details, be careful. Spiderman, why all these bandages?
- I fell down the stairs Professor.

- Why do we always do dangerous missions?
- I don't know, Spiderman; Edgar prepares for the landing
- OK. Fasten your seatbelts it will shake.

- I wonder if we did well to send Edgar to scout!
- For this kind of mission, he is ten times more discreet than you!

Edgar back tells them
- The laboratory is there, but there are people in the whole village.
- Okay, we'll operate at night.

At nightfall, our 3 heroes discreetly enter the village.
- Well, before entering the village we must put on our camouflage uniforms.

- With our disguises we go unnoticed, however be on your guard. The laboratory is right there, we will spy discreetly through the skylight.

- By Zeus! It is not a laboratory. The Professor is wrong.

- It's a kitchen!
they prepare
cassoulet!
